What inspiration we get from Lord Ganesha ?

Year after year, Ganesh's devotees look forward to his annual coming, "GANESH CHATURTHI". Who does not know Ganesh? Ganesh, the pot-bellied figure with rounded, childish limbs and an elephant's head with one tusk broken, has four arms holding a goad, a noose, a broken tusk and a bowl of sweets. He is well-known deity not only because it has been ordained that before beginning any puja or worshipping any other God, one must first pray to Him. Apart from Krishna, Ganesh is the only other God in whom we find childlike innocence. A prayer in the Rig Veda invoking Ganesh shows that he has been worshipped since very ancient times. The sacred symbol "Om", as written in Sanskrit is said to represent him. He is praised at the beginning of any ceremony or undertaking and has a thousand names, including Ganesh, Ganapati, Gajendra, Siddhadata, Vinayaka, Ekadanta etc. all of which should be recited to avert evil and ensure success and well-being.

Now let us see how Ganesh got his name (title) Ganapati? Once Gods were to select a leader amongst themselves and for this, they had a race. They were to go round the universe thrice and in this race the God who return first would be a winner. The Gods, including Kartikeya (Ganesh's younger brother) set out on their swift mounts and the fat Ganesh was left behind with his vehicle mouse. Ganesh went round his parents Shiva-Parvati thrice and returned to the finishing point and was declared first. All the Gods who had competed agreed that after all Ganesh had been round his universe and thus he deserved to win. Thus Ganesh became 'GANANAYAK', the leader of Shiva's "GANAS" and it was decreed that people must offer him worship as the remover of all obstacles, before they begin any suspicious work or offer puja to any other God.

Ganesh today is worshipped with prayer and meditation but is rarely the primary deity of devotion, except in Maharashtra where puja is offered to him and colorful procession are taken out. The history of Maharashtra since the last two hundred years is recounted and eminent Maharashtra politicians remembered. Ganesh Chaturthi festival has provided that symbol for Hindu regeneration in Maharashtra. Ganesh lends power in the world of action and offers protection, opens doors and given success to other Gods and Goddesses.

Now let us see what Ganesh embodies within his frame and what his name signifies: "Ganesh's potbelly or 'Iambda'" signifies that the entire universe or "Brahma" is within Gnash. The ever-moving trunk teaches us to be active. In his four hands "Chaturbhuj", Ganesh carries the pasha (rope), ankusha (Curved weapon), the modaka (sweets laddoos) an offering which his devotees must make to him, if they wish to please him. His fourth hand is folded in beneficence to his devotees, assuring them of his help and protection. Now, you all might be wondering why Ganesh the all-dynamic Number One God should ride a rat. There is a reason. The rat is traditionally associated with emotions like anger, pride and selfishness. Ganesh's riding rat means, the God keeps these feelings under control.

Lord Ganesh's BIG HEAD inspires us to think big and think profitably, the BIG EARS prompt us to listen patiently to new ideas and suggestions, the NARROW EYES point to deep concentration need to finish tasks in hand well and quickly, the LONG NOSE tells us to poke around inquisitively to learn more and the SMALL MOUTH reminds us to speak less and listen more.

Today, Lord Ganesh is still with us. He stays with us for complete ten days every year, before his idol is immersed in water with the prayer, "Please come soon next year."
